EMERGING SKILLS FOR HERITAGE CONSERVATION

The third edition of the Forum is the result of a participatory planning activity developed together with our partners, Young Professionals Forum - Emerging skills for heritage conservation.

"Even though we are living in complicated times and there are many things to solve that may seem impossible, we are still here: adapting our work, getting new skills, researching, and above all, creating bonds. To sum it up, the Young Professionals Forum was so unique because it was the testimony of our generation’s resilience of tomorrow's decision-makers to operate with an open mind, strengthening their personal skills and networks for easier access and positioning in this professional field.

The most outstanding profile could win a fellowship.
