ALTA SCUOLA POLITECNICA

In 2004, the Politecnico di Milano and the Politecnico di Torino launched the Alta Scuola Politecnica (ASP), a honours program focused on multidisciplinary and innovation. Since then, eighteen cycles of ASP studies have been activated.

ASP is a programme for motivated and exceptionally talented students, with a passion for innovation, willing to broaden the horizon of their disciplinary training and motivated to integrate it with additional transverse elements.

Students are initiated to a path of advanced interdisciplinary training to understand the complex relationships between science, innovation, technology and socio-economic systems. ASP selects 150 students per year, among the top 5% applicants to Master Degree programmes in Engineering, Architecture and Design at Politecnico di Milano (PoliMi) and Politecnico di Torino (PoliTo).

This year the ASP Graduation (XVI cycle) and Opening Ceremony (XVIII cycle) is an opportunity to celebrate those who have successfully completed a demanding and intense path, and also to reflect about the unique features of the ASP programme, that combines the robustness of deep vertical education - provided by the Master Degree programmes at Politecnico di Milano and Politecnico di Torino - with the richness and openness of a horizontal interdisciplinary program - offered by ASP.

CARLALBERTO GUGLIELMINOTTI

Carlalberto Guglielminotti is a serial entrepreneur and since 2013 CEO of NHOA (formerly Engie EPS), leading its listing at the Paris stock exchange in 2015 (NHOA:PA) and reaching in 2021 over €450 million market capitalization. He transformed NHOA from a technology start-up into a global player in energy storage and e-mobility, active in the construction of the largest fastcharging infrastructure in Southern Europe. Guglielminotti is also Partner of 360 Capital and has been co-founder of two other successful startups: Blackshape Aircraft and Restopolis, now TheFork (TripAdvisor). He is Young Global Leader 2020 of the World Economic Forum. Guglielminotti is member of the Board at Prima Industrie (PRI:IM), Institute for International Political Studies (ISPI) and Leadersel Innotech ESG Scientific Committee (Ersel). Carlalberto Guglielminotti holds an MBA from SDA Bocconi, a LL.B. from Université Paris V and a JD summa cum laude from University of Turin, he specialized at Stanford University and European School of Economics and in Philosophy at Haifa University.

SANDRA MORI

A professional life between Italy and the US, a Tuscan soul and a passion for IT and for helping women succeed in their professional careers. Sandra Mori is an Italian lawyer and has been the European DPO of Coca-Cola Europe until June 2021. Sandra Mori graduated from Pisa law school and then continued her studies at the Yale Law School. After more than ten years of private practice in different law firms in Italy and the US, she became the legal director for Southern Europe of Microsoft Corp. In 2001 she joined the Coca-Cola legal team as legal director for Italy, Malta and Albania. With determination and enthusiasm she held roles of increasing responsibilities in the organization and in 2010, she became European General Counsel of the Company (first woman and first European citizen in that role). In May 2018, with the entering into force of GDPR, she became the European DPO of the Company, a role which has allowed her to re-engage her passion for IT and experiment new ways to manage legal matters by using technology. Sandra Mori is currently a member of the Milan Politecnico and of the Milan Foundation of Art Schools (Fondazione Milano-Scuole Civiche) and acts as strategic consultant for the legal departments of a number of multinational companies.
